

Caring about Code Quality-Responsibility

First law of programming

- Lowering quality is the easiest way to increase the development time.
- Lowering quality costs 30% more at the least in developing projects. -Study
- It take 50% more time & money to put in quality. But that time & effort spent pays off greater dividends, especially when it comes to maintaining applications.